Priority Pet Hospital Earns Top Honors
Voted Best in Valley by readers of Sonoran Tails Magazine

GILBERT, AZ – November 1, 2009 – When veterinarians Karin Burns and Billy Griswold opened Priority Pet Hospital at Val Vista Drive and Queen Creek Road in early 2008, they hoped their practice would become a special place for both pets and their owners. They never dreamed that it would be voted best in the Valley less than two years later.

“We were pleasantly surprised,” said Dr. Karin Burns, when asked what the practice thought of the Reader’s Choice Award, announced online and in the November print edition of Sonoran Tails magazine. “We know that we have a dedicated and vocal group of clients who appreciate our approach to veterinary care,” she continued, “but we may have underestimated their support.” A practicing veterinarian for 11 years, Burns’ focus in practice is educating pet owners to help them make the best medical decisions on behalf of their pets. “Mom” to three cats and two dogs, Burns’ deeply-rooted belief that pets are part of the family is appreciated by both owners and pets alike.

“It was an honor simply to be nominated,” said Dr. Griswold, Burns’ husband and partner. Griswold views the honor as a team award, he said, noting that Priority Pet Hospital’s dedicated staff members are a critical part of the atmosphere that pets and their owners find so appealing.

Priority Pet Hospital is located on the southwest corner of Val Vista Drive and Queen Creek Road in Gilbert. The practice provides medical, surgical and dental care for dogs, cats, puppies and kittens.

Sonoran Tails, which promotes pet rescue and responsible pet guardianship, has a Valley-wide circulation of over 12,000, said Associate Editor Renee Krejci.
